Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1, 3-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Nagasawa et al. (US 6,965,950 B1).

Nagasawa teaches a portable terminal (1,fig. 1) communicably coupled to an external accessory (5-1), the external accessory being one of a plurality of external accessories (shown in fig. 1) each of the plurality of external accessories being a different type and having differing functions (see col. 3, lines 19-20 and 43-44), comprising: an earjack (2) comprising a plurality of communicable contacts (shown in fig. 2) for communicably coupling the external accessory via one or more of the plurality contacts, wherein a number of contacts used and a usage of each contact varies depending on the type of the communicably coupled external accessory (shown in fig. 2), an analog-to-digital conversion (ADC) section for converting a resistance value of the communicably coupled external accessory into an ADC value, a memory for storing ADC reference values of the plurality of the external accessories, and a controller for controlling the ADC section to convert the a resistance value of the communicably coupled external accessory into an ADC value, determining the a type of the communicably coupled external accessory by comparing the converted ADC value with the ADC reference values stored in the memory, controlling the number and usage of the plurality of contacts to correspond to the communicably coupled external accessory and performing a function of communicably coupled external accessory (see col. 4, line 8 through col. 9 line 59); a constant power supply (see fig. 2) for powering the communicably coupled external accessory coupled as required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 2 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nagasawa et al. in view of Hellberg (US 6,742,061 B1).

Nagasawa discloses the claimed invention except indicating the pins being of te earjack being for different connections.

Hellberg teaches a portable terminal (30, fig. 2) connectable to various external accessories, comprising an earjack (40) including: a ground pin, a microphone pin, a speaker pin, an interrupt pin, an ADC pin (pin connected to 232C SENS of Nagasawa), a received data pin, a transmit data pin, a serial clock pin, a serial data pin, and a trigger pin (all pins being shown in figs. 1 and 2, not labeled; pins not specifically shown may be included as 10B).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the portable terminal of Nagasawa with the earjack taught by Hellberg for indicating pins of different connections.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1 and 4 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Mizukami et al. (US 6,069,960), Nakamura (US 5,842,045), and Wagner et al. (US 6,295,519 B1).

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
